

Bruno Lobo is a managing director of a London based real estate developer and investor focused on large scale placemaking residential led development projects in the UK and Europe. He holds a PhD from Columbia University in the City of New York and a MArch from the Technical University of Lisbon. Mr. Lobo is a regular lecturer at industry conferences and academic institutions and publishes periodically in academic journals and industry publications.

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/brunogracalobo/>